For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN'S ANTI BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of blood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes on the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

THERE came to the stables of the subscriber, on Monday the 1st inst. a person calling himself and obtained a horse and gig on hire; as he said, to go to Ellicott's Mills, and return in the afternoon of the same day; and as he has not yet returned, there is strong reason to believe that his intention is to swindle me out of my property. He is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, apparently about 25 or 30 years of age, of genteel appearance, and well calculated to deceive.

Mr. PEYTON,

The horse is a grey, about 15 hands high, 9 or 10 years old, has a switch tail, a speck on the right eye, and moves swiftly. The gig has a green body, carriage and wheels black, the lining of blue cloth, red stuff top, linings, plated double—outside joints

I will give the above reward for the recovery of the horse and gig, and the detection of the scoundrel, or 20 dollars for the horse and gig only, and all reasonable expenses if delivered to me, No. 26, North Liberty street, Baltimore.

Original.

O, mickle is the powerful grace, that lies
In plants, herbs, stones, and their true qualities:
For naught so vile that on the earth doth live,
But to the earth some special good doth give;
Nor ought so good, but, strained from that fair use,
Revolts from true birth, stumbling on abuse;
Virtue itself turns vice, being misapplied,
And vice sometime's by action dignified.
Within the infant rind of this small flower
Poison hath residence, and med'cine power:
For this, being smelt, with that part cheers the heart;
Being tasted, slays all senses with the smart.
Two such opposed foes, encamp them still
In man as well as herbs—grace and rude will.
And, where the worser is predominant,
Full soon the canker death eats up that plant.

Romeo and Juliet.

Thus are good and evil mingled, not only in the best physical boundles of nature, but in the unalterable dispensations of the Almighty one, the wisdom of which we are bound not to call in question, and the tender mercies of whom, it is impossible, without madness, to doubt. In preparing the cup for ourselves, the proportion of good and of evil depends so much upon our manner of mixing the ingredients, that persevering prudence and virtue seldom fail to make the better instead of the WORSER predominant—and GRACE (by which the poet means "efficacious virtue") generally produces happiness but slightly tinctured with evil: while RUDE WILL as seldom fails to embitter the draught of life, and to dash it with a proportion of calamity, beyond the original destination of nature. Perhaps this is the reason why we are often found to be, practically, most unhappy, where barren speculation would conclude that the means of felicity are most abundantly within our reach—and why free nations are generally more turbulent and discontented, than the subjects of moderate despotisms—and why as part and parcel of that wayward tendency, suicide prevails more in free than in other countries. It is an ascertained fact that there have been more acts of self-murder committed in England, Switzerland and America, than in all the despotisms of Europe taken together.

Of the various circumstances attending human affairs, in which RUDE WILL, violently breaking in, rends, and ravels, and disfigures the "MINGLED YARN," as Shakspeare calls it, of 'which the web of life is composed,' the liberty of the press stands eminently conspicuous. In societies nothing is so productive of good—nothing so powerfully operative to human happiness and security as a free press—but at the same time, nothing which, "when strain'd from the fair use," so far revolts from its true birth, or stumbles on such mischievous abuse—nothing in which 'virtue by being misapplied may be so turned into vice'—or the medicine of social life be so easily transmuted into poison: indeed, so intimately are good and evil interwoven in it, that it is scarcely possible to enjoy the one, without incurring the danger of the other; or to remove the latter, without tearing up the whole fabric, and laying society open to ten thousand worse evils than any to be apprehended from its ordinary excesses, abuses and perversions.

Yet is there not something remediable to be done by a due regulation of the sentiments and opinions of leading men in every circle of society? May not the abuses of this most glorious instrument of national independence and freedom, be corrected by the discountenance and contempt of men of influence? If trading politicians, ambitious or venal demagogues, or their subordinate agents, of the pen and the press, merely for the purposes of political intrigue, of the lowest order and most corrupt character, disturb the harmony of the public, with false suggestions, or suppositions too groundless ever to have been entertained, might not those mischievous givings-out be at once discredited, and quashed by the judicious part of society consigning them to silent contempt?—Instead of which the most senseless speculations and self-evident falsehoods, are discussed and passed from one to another, out of mere lack of something to say—and bandied from one newspaper to another, out of mere lack of some better matter to print.

It is not a vague conjecture, it is an obvious truth, that the politicians of Europe, who read our public journals, must inevitably conclude that there is at this moment a party in the United States, headed by Mr. Clay, and in open opposition to Mr. Monroe. A suggestion than which nothing can be more absurd; since whatever the private wishes of Mr. Clay may be, he has too much sagacity to imagine such an enterprise practicable. I should as soon suspect him, or any man of equal sanity, of enlisting himself as one of captain John Cleaves Symmes's hundred brave companions through Siberia to the center of the earth, as of setting up any opposition to the most popular man in the union, hedged in, as Mr. Munroe is, by the well earned confidence of all parties and conditions of men, and every day acquiring an augmentation of the love and trust of the nation, by the profound wisdom, the candid, generous temper, and the spirit and safe complexion of his policy. It is indeed whimsical enough—the confusion of projects and opinions by which the volunteer heralds and precursors of Mr. Clay's march to the first office in the republic, betray the ardor of their desires, and the feebleness of their means.—Those of his advocates in Kentucky are quite at variance with the insinuations of his friends near the seat of general government. The one, who it is reasonable to suppose are not without Mr. Clay's private hints on the occasion, deny that there is the least hostility on the part of their patron, to Mr. Munroe; while the others, on the contrary, insinuate that there is. A pretty evident proof that if hostilites are meditated, the invaders have not yet agreed upon a plan of operation. Those who are hopeless to effectually oppose or injure, however, may nevertheless hate and calumniate; and Mr. Monroe is obliged to sustain sentence of condemnation from the scattered malecontents of the union, for not setting out like Hudibras, "COLONELLING" on the part of the South Americans, and inviting Mr. Clay as a Ralpho, to chop logic with him on the way.

All the time, the whole country, with the exception of those gentlemen malecontents, rejoice that they have a chief magistrate, whose wisdom and firmness secure us all from the pernicious wild schemes of ambitious projectors; and are thankful to God for sending them such a one for the protection of the union from the disgrace and the mischiefs of a spurious Quixotism, generated between individual ambition, and corporate rapacity. They do not believe that Mr. Clay cares an atom more for the cause of South America than any other man in the union—but they know him to be inordinately ambitious—they have been informed that he is disappointed of hopes which he had unreasonably entertained—they understand that he is angry—and they are too well acquainted with the process customary on such occasions, to be at a loss for a key to the whole course of Mr. Clay's and his agents' proceedings.—They know that when he talks of inciting our government to hazard the nation's peace and prosperity for the South American patriots, he only means to raise recruits against those who have disappointed his intemperate ambition—that when he storms in congress about Venezuela, his voice is intended to be heard over the Apalachian mountains—and that when he employs his tongue in justifying PUERREYDON in the full cry of overbearing oratory to the representatives of North America, the whole object of his consideration is, not whether that tyrant shall fill the presidential chair of South America, but whether a gentleman much nearer and dearer to our orator's heart, or Mr.—— ——, shall fill the presidential chair of the United States.

Whenever the people therefore see in a certain class of papers any flaming brands of South American kindling, coupled with the flaming patriotism, the eloquence, the services, and the mighty merits of Mr. Clay, let them regard the whole as a mere domestic electioneering manœuvre, and nothing else, and they will be sure not to go far from the truth.

MORE COUNTERFEITERS DETECTED.

On Tuesday, one of the justices of police, accompanied by the high constable and other officers, seized in an obscure house, a principal dealer in counterfeit money, and his saddle bags, containing a large amount of well executed notes on various banks; well packed in separate bundles, probably to the amount of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS. The person taken is esteemed the most adroit hand at the whole process of forging on the continent; his detection is therefore very fortunate. The bills are generally on the banks of this state and Pennsylvania.

Almost every hour persons complain at the police office of others of whom they have received bad notes. The whole country is annoyed with this crime and it daily increases. It does appear that more efficient laws are necessary to suppress forgery than now exist. Vigilance alone cannot resist it.

OBED WRIGHT.

Extract of a letter from a Gentleman in Milledgeville to his friend in Raleigh, dated June 4.

Our metropolis has been in considerable commotion for several days past.—Capt. Obed Wright, the murderer of the friendly Indians, was arrested by order of General Jackson, the first of last week below this, and at his request was permitted to come to this place, for the purpose of procuring some papers which he said would be necessary at his trial. On Thursday morning last, when the officer was about to proceed on his journey, the prisoner broke ground, and moved with such velocity that he succeeded in reaching the top of one of our longest hills before he was overtaken by persons on horseback. His conduct so enraged the officer, that he looked as if he intended severing the fellow's head with his sword which he "waved in fiery circles" (as Weams would say) above the trembling prisoner, who looked as if he expected every moment to meet old Howard in another world. This affair afforded time enough for a friend of Wright's to procure a writ of habeas corpus, which was served on the officer, and he notified to attend a court called to try the case, in a few hours. The Court decided that the orders of Gen. Jackson were informal, as they contained no charge for which the prisoner was arrested or to be tried—Jackson simply directs the officer to arrest him and confine until instructions can be received from the President. The prisoner was discharged, and the officer went off, cursing our governor and whole state and threatening us with vengeance, to tell Gen. Jackson how he had been treated, who has never shewn much courtesy towards our chief magistrate. Jackson considered Wright in the service of the United States, and our Governor thinks he was in the service of this state. There is much difference of opinion on the subject. The Governor is censured generally—perhaps justly too. How the affair will end, no one pretends to say. Wright is under arrest, but whether the Governor will order a Court Martial to try, or whether he will wait instructions from the President is not known. I think the Governor had very little sagacity not to discover that Wright was not qualified to discharge the duties required of him by his command.

The present fashion of the ladies' bonnets irresistibly suggests to us the idea of a pretty face, thrust into one end of a hollow log, into the other end of which you must look if you would know to whom the face belongs. A lady, in a fashionable bonnet, must be literally and pretty closely confronted, in order to be seen. [Philad. Union.

A new novel called the FUDGE FAMILY IN PARIS, has lately issued from the press in London and excited the most universal interest. The whole impression, amounting to several thousands, went off in one day. The London Morning Chronicle of the 23d of April, in noticing it, remarks, that the mixture of gaiety and of seriousness—the lively pictures of fashionable life in Paris, with the virtuous and indignant castigation of the heartless principles of the Holy Alliance, are so happily blended as to entitle it to rank with the finest of the same author's writings. [Charleston Times.

DECLARATION

Of a Revolutionary officer, of a town in Vermont, who applied for a pension.

I, William Watson, of Poultney, in the county of Rutland, in the state of Vermont, in the 70th year of my age, depose, testify, and declare;

That in the month of April A. D. 1775, I was one of those called minute men, in the county of Hampshire then a province of Massachusetts; that a regiment of such minute men was regularly formed in the towns of Northamton, Hatfield and the adjacent plantations, near the borders of Connecticut river, and commanded by General Seth Pumroy, that I was eldest sergeant under Captain Israel Chapin of Hatfield, belonging to the said regiment; and that on the morning of the said 20th of April, 1775, about two o'clock, three alarm signals were given; that the said minute company were formed, equipped and on their march before the sun arose, and arrived opposite Boston, a distance of 102 miles, on the morning of the 3d day after.

I further state, that I acted and did the duty of quarter master of said regiment until some time in May following; when my regiment with another were incorporated under the command of Col. John Fellows, in which I was commissioned a second Lieutenant by the continental congress. Having served during the campaign, I was commissioned Lieutenant in the year's service of 1776, with William King, in a Massachusetts regiment commanded by Colonel Jonathan Ward, and had charge of said company (the captain being chiefly absent, at Boston, New-York, Long-Island, New-Jersey, &c.) On the establishment of the army in 1777, for the duration of the war, I was appointed a lieutenant in the 9th Massachusetts Regiment, Nahub Ward, captain; James Wesson, Col. and after the reform of the line, commanded by Col. Henry Jackson. In the year 1778, I received a warrant as captain from the state of Massachusetts, but was not commissioned as such by congress, until the year 1780; although all the care, expense and responsibility of a captain had devolved on me for four years previous.—At the close of the year 1782, another reform taking place, I was tranferred to the third Massachusetts Regiment. Col. Greaton; from which I was honorably dismissed, on the happy return of Peace, on the 24th day of June, 1783, and having served (excepting two short furloughs) eight years, two months and four days.

I further state, that I led the company with good report through three seiges, seven pitched Battles, and (being light infantry) above fifty skirmishes, that I was five times wounded, was struck down by the explosion of a piece of artillery, at the battle of Long Island, and had a number of bones crushed by a desperate fall when on duty; that Maj. Pettingil, the brave, being wounded, I commanded and led on the troops which stormed the German Lines at Beamis's heights, near Sarat ga, N. Y. and seized Col. Brahman the commanding officer, which determined the fate of Burgoyne.

I further state that my constitution is so far debilitated, that nothing but the most powerful astringents have enabled me to be comfortable or to do any labour for several years, and that unavoidable misfortunes have reduced me to a state of indigence. Also, that I might have been enrolled with invalids at the close of the revolutionary war, and continued under pay till this time, had I chosen it—that my name is to be found on every roll and return of the above specified companies, regiments, &c. all of which are written, certified and signed in my hand writing.

And I further declare that I am in such reduced circumstances, as to need the assistance of my country, &c.

WILLIAM WATSON.

Poultney, Vermont, April, 6. 1818.

From the Baltimore American.

Extract from the Log Book of the schr. Col. Georg Armistead, Francis Gatechair, master, from Baltimore to the Havana.

"June 4, 1818.—At 2 P. M. descried two sail a head, a ship and pilot built schr.—the Hole in the Wall then bore from us E. N. E. distant 4 leagues. At three P. M. came up with them; when within pistol shot of the ship, she hoisted the Swedish flag, rounded to, and fired a broadside at us. I was then compelled to heave too, and when under their guns, they still continued firing musketry and large guns on me, which went through my sails and rigging. I was ordered to lower my boat, and send my papers on board. I sent my mate and two men with the register, & as the boat proceeded to the ship, they still continued firing at her. When the boat arrived alongside, my mate got on the ship's deck and presented the register to the commander, who, at the same moment, fired a pistol at him, which he fortunately escaped. He ordered my mate and men back into the boat, but it had started off with two of their men, who came on board the schr. and commenced plundering. They abused me and all hands, calling us "Yankee Rascals," although they were themselves Americans. They struck me a number of times, and once with a cutlass in my left eye.

The boat belonging to the ship was lowered down, into which they put my mate and men and a number of prisoners, and before the boat had put off for the schooner, a volley was fired among those in it, which mortally wounded one of the prisoners. This man was captain of the ship abovementioned, and was bound from Corunna to the Havana, but had been captured that same morning.—The Spanish captain died of his wounds at 10 in the evening.

My passenger, Mr. Bullet was also abused and struck; a knife was put to his throat, and his money demanded, with which he was obliged to comply to preserve his life. A box containing silver spoons, which had been put under his care by the Spanish Consul in Baltimore was broken open and plundered; after they had plundered all the cabin furniture, and clothing of the officers, they broke open the hatches, threw overboard and took with them a quantity of powder. They also cut open several bales of dry goods, and at 6 P. M. left us with 23 men on board.

The schooner's name as far as we could learn, was the Dolphin, commanded by captain Barnes, 14 days from Savannah, manned with 40 or 50 men, and mounting one gun on a pivot.

FOREIGN ARTICLES.

The war in the East Indies has at length began on a large scale—the first operations of the campaign have been published in the London Gazette—and apprehensions are expressed that the contest may prove more serious than was at first expected.

It is stated that there are 7000 children educated in charity schools in Liverpool, under the patronage of dissenters—Those under the patronage of members of the church of England, at something less than 3000.

The quantity of tin exported from G. Britain for the last year, ending 5th Jan. 1818, amounted to 47,643 cwt.

The exportation from Liverpool in 3 months, of cotton stuffs, viz. printed and white calicoes, dimities &c. was 29, 264,010 yards.

House of Commons, Lord Castlereagh moved for an extension of the Alien Bill for additional terms of two years.—This bill as our readers are well aware, gives the Secretary of state the power of sending out of the state any suspected foreigner without legal process.

The motion was opposed by Sir Samuel Romily and several other members, on the ground that the present circumstances of this country and of Europe were not such as to warrant the continuation of an arbitrary power in the hands of the executive, which is so liable to abuse. It was contended on the side of Ministers that many of those restless and ardent spirits, bred up in the French revolution who had so often embroiled Europe, had not yet ceased their baneful activity in every country where the freedom of the laws and of the press afforded scope for their exertions.

PLEASURE OF PAYING DEBTS.

"What a pleasure it is to pay one's debts!"—Sir T. Littleton made this observation. It seems to flow from a combination of circumstances, each of which is productive of pleasure. In the first place it removes that uneasiness which a true spirit feels from a dependence and obligation. It affords pleasure to the creditor, and thereby gratifies our most social affections. It promotes our future confidence, which is so very interesting to an honest mind. It opens a prospect of being readily supplied with what you want on future occasions. It leaves a consciousness of our own virtue. And it is a measure which we know to be right, both in point of justice and sound policy. Finally it is the main support of reputation.

THOMAS MOORE.

[From Bristed's resources of the United States]

"The well-known poet, Mr. Thomas Moore, when quite a young man, published a book, made up of prose and verse, in which he, very unmercifully, abused and misrepresented the people of this country. Some little time since, however, he addressed a letter to Mr. John E Hall, the editor of the Port Folio, in Philadelphia, in which he expresses his deep repentance for having slandered America, and swings into the opposite extreme of unmeasured praise, representing it, now, as the only and where freedom, and happiness, so forth, are to be found."

From the Pittsfield Sun, June 10

REMARKABLE OCCURRENCE.

"The blood of the Mad Dog, mentioned in our last, which was killed the chamber of a house in the Shaf village, judged to be about a qua was taken up, and buried about 4 f from a large pear tree, in full bloo and very thrifty. The third day after, the tree was completely wilted the highest branches, and it continu to wither as fast as if it was cut dow In digging the hole, some of the sm roots were cut off, which enabled t poison to mingle with the sap, a convey its deadly influence into eve part of the tree. This is the first i stance we have ever known of the h drophobia affecting vegetable life.

[We do not credit the assertion th the blood of the Mad Dog produc the effect stated on the tree. The must have been some other cause.— The blood could not poison the tre because it contained no poison in i self. The saliva of a mad dog inject ed into the blood of a healthy anima would produce madness, but we ver much doubt whether any quantity the blood of the rabid dog injected in to the system of a healthy dog, woul produce hydrophobia.—Phil. Press.]

Dignified conduct of a Young Lady. Eliza Lambert, a young Parisian, re solutely discarded a gentleman t whom she was to have been marrie the next day, because he ridiculed re ligion. Having given him a gentl reproof, he replied, 'that a man o the world would not be so old-fashion ed as to regard God and religion,' E liza started!—but soon recovering herself, said 'From this moment when I discover that you do not re spect religion, I cease to be your's— He who does not love and honour God, can never love his wife constantly and sincerely.'

Evangelical party—The lady of an honorable and reverend gentleman, now residing at Edinburgh, lately issued cards for an at home assembly, which was attended by all the fashionable world. Instead of the common place amusement of cards, the company were entertained with a selection of sacred music, performed on the organ; after which prayers were read and a sermon preached by the master of the house, to the surprise, and we hope we may add, to the edification of a numerous audience.

A great proportion of this land is exceedingly well timbered, and that part which is not, is so recently cleared as to be in an active state for cultivation, and already in a productive condition.—For terms, apply to PHILIP C. JONES, esq. in Leesburg, Va. or to R. JONES.

Plaister Land.

THE subscriber offers for sale two FARMS, being part of the tract whereon he resides, in Fauquier county, Virginia. One of these farms contains 600 acres, one half, at least, of which, is in wood—the other contains 450 acres, upwards of one third of which is in wood—on the latter are a commodious overseer's house, a new barn, stables, corn houses, and negro quarters, and about 20 acres of well improved timothy meadow. The woodland on both of these farms is covered with a fine growth of red oak and hickory, and the soil, what is denominated first rate tobacco land—the whole of the cleared land is under good enclosures, has had the advantage of a clover lay, and has afforded strong evidences of its adaptation to the Plaister of Paris, as any land in the state. No land is better watered; both farms being bounded by Broad Run, and having (besides other springs) a never failing stream mill run passing through their centre.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phænomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavoured to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.

THOMAS COOPER, M. D.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be printed on a superfine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.

II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.

III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12—to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.

Fan-Sash Making.

METAL FAN-SASHES, of various descriptions, will be made by the subscriber, at his shop, lower end of Duke street. The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufactory in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. The various forms into which the metal can be shaped have given it a decided superiority, and the difference in the price is very trifling. The subscriber has been at considerable expence in procuring the necessary preparations, and relies on public enterprise for success in the undertaking.

Gentlemen in the country, by sending the dimensions of their sashes, can have them made at the same price as if in town.

February 19

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE's MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of blood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

The Union.

For the better accommodation of the public the UNION will, in future, run twice a day between Georgetown and Alexandria—provided the receipts will justify the additional expense.

She will take on board, and land passengers at the Bridge, on her way up and down.

On Sundays she will, as usual, go to Fort Washington, leaving Alexandria at half past ten, A. M.
